

Empty Nesters

Are you getting cooped up in that empty nest?

Hi Mikenzie,

You've done it. You've raised your beautiful children, and gave them the confidence to fly from the nest and make their own way.

First off...

Congratulation!

That's a huge milestone for your family—and once you've had time to process this new dynamic, I hope you'll make space to celebrate!

It's time for the two of you to begin another adventure of growth, discovery, and connection.

Time to honor everything you've accomplished.

Time to put yourselves first and have some fun—you deserve it.

... and you know I'm here to help when you're ready to start planning. :)

PS: Here are a few of my favorite properties for empty-nesters in 2022. I know once you take a peak, you'll fall as deeply in love with them as I have!

Scroll to the end to get a sneak peak at a brand new RESORT!